

Eric Katzung

My greatest passion and joy in life is being married to Dava and the father of our five children (the eldest three are currently enrolled in Vanguard). For about 10 years, I lived and worked in Taiwan as a teacher and collegiate counselor. Currently, I am the International Director of a network consisting of about 750 enterprises around the world. Our network focuses on developing entrepreneurial leaders to have a deep impact in their communities through their businesses, NGOs, and schools. I am also working in a technology start-up as the Director of Corporate Development. My desire is that Vanguard students would be known for their strong character and significant achievements in all their endeavors and pursuits. As I have learned more about Vanguard over the past several years, I believe the community is one of our greatest assets to realize these desired outcomes. I hope to contribute to the mission of Vanguard as a servant leader, compassionate listener, and strategic thinker. Although experiences like living cross-culturally or leading a network might add value to the ongoing fulfillment of the mission of Vanguard, I think that humility will be one of the most critical qualities of anyone selected to serve in this capacity. My educational background includes:

- BA in Business Finance, Entrepreneurship and Photography from the University of Wisconsin - Eau Claire
- MA equivalent in Mandarin Chinese from Tunghai University in Taichung, Taiwan
- Certificate in Early Childhood Development and Counseling from Grace College

It would be a privilege to serve the Vanguard community as a board member.
